If there is anything like a fair election in South Carolina again for many years it will be an accident, unless the plans of the Bourbons to prevent honest voting miscarry. Governor Hagood, under the new registry law, appoints the registration officers for the entire State. Of course he sees to it that they are all trustworthy Bourbonds. Being an unmitigated Bourbon himself, he cannot be expected to do anything else. The first registration will be made in May and June next, and the officers who are to supervise it have been appointed by the Governor. The leading buldozers' organ of the State commends the selection as having been carefully made. We have not a doubt of it, The law directs that the supervisor shall remain not less than one day nor more than three days in each precinct for the purpose of allowing voters to register; that after he has completed the registration in the several precincts he shall open the books at the county seat, where errors may be corrected, and qualified voters, who have not previously regis. tered, may do so. After this has been done the supervisor is empowered to revise the list and inscribe the names of voters shown "to his satisfaction" to be qualified and not already registered. It is easy to see what an opportunity for wholesale fraud is here afforded. If the list be found, for example, to contain more Republican than Democratic this connection, and continuatory therenames, does anybody suppose the Bour- of, comes the news from St. Petersburg bon supervisor would hesitate to add that the Czar has refused to accept the enough Bourbon names to make the list sacred right of perpetual Bourbon dommation? Perhaps the chivalry of South Carolina will resent this intimation as · landerous and unjust, but we beg to be permitted to say that a party which will stuff ballot-boxes will also stuff a registration list. The only check to fraudulent registration is the "discretion" of a supervisor who in all probability is an ex-tissuebale t operator.

But this is not the only opportunity for fraud which the law affords. The board consisting of the assistant supervisors and himself. From their decision large ignorant population like that of the South, it is not difficult to see how this man can use his power so as to keep his party in perpetual majority on the registration list. An ignorant negro, who does not understand the various stages of appeal, would never get his case so far as the Circuit Court, and tiere would be no chance of a fair dee don short of that. The supervisor, therefore, has virtually absolute power both in admitting names to the list and in revising them after they have been admitted. He is responsible to nobody sucthe Governor who appoints him, an I he knows he will be sustained by prevent a fair election, not to promote s. It is designed to make unnecessary further use of the tissue ballot, intimida tion, and red-shirt tactics generally. It is not surprising that the Republican leaders in the State decided, when they read the provisions of the law, to advise their followers to withdraw entirely from participation in State politics. Bourbons, like all other thieves, are sure to fall to fighting among themselves before long, and then the Republican may have a chance to secure honest treatment.
